According to which scenario, it was expressed that the claims should recite the storing of the 2 modules of the UI software prior to any starting, starting the basic module that does its specific setting, then using this setting to detect the coupling of the expansion card so to load the previously stored UI module by the started basic module, and utilizing the UI module to operate the expansion card being coupled to the device. The proposed changes were agreed mutually and effectuated to all the identified claims in order to put the claims in condition. .
